

No Lost Generation (NLG) Student Initiative - New Student Participants

Project Title	No Lost Generation (NLG) Student Initiative - New Student Participants
Project Summary	Help ensure there is "No Lost Generation" of refugee youth. Organize an NLG Student Initiative chapter at your school. Work with other universities and NGOs to mobilize students at your campus to participate in the response to the global refugee crisis.
Country	United States

Project Description

No prior experience with the No Lost Generation (NLG) Student Initiative is required. Selected students will be called upon to coordinate with other university NLG chapters and participate in events, campaigns, and other programming that all chapters work on together, as well as create and steer an NLG student group on their campus. This will involve organizing volunteer events, registering a student group at their university, and leading a team of students on their campus that work to create NLG programming. There will be opportunities to connect with NGOs, volunteer locally, participate in programming and conferences with members of the humanitarian community, and be a direct part of the global response to the refugee crisis. Students who lead NLG chapters represent the next generation of humanitarian leaders and will be called upon to maximize student impact by expanding NLG to college campuses across the country, and around the world. Details at <https://nlgoncampus.wordpress.com>.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)

Cultural diplomacy

Design thinking

Educational design

Social media management

Storytelling/blogging/vlogging

Survey / polling design

Writing

Additional Information

Students applying for this position may not attend one of the schools with existing NLG chapters. These schools are listed below:

American University
Baylor University
Boston University
Claremont McKenna College
Columbia University
East Carolina University
Emory University
Fordham University
Georgetown University
Georgia Gwinnett College
Gustavus Adolphus College
Haverford College
Indiana University
Johns Hopkins University
Lafayette College
Lehigh University
Michigan State University
Mississippi State University
New York University
Notre Dame University
Oberlin College
Occidental College
Ohio State University
Penn State University
Pepperdine University
Rutgers University
San Diego State University
Seton Hall University
Sweet Briar College
Teachers College Columbia University
The George Washington University
Tufts University
University of California Berkeley
University of California Los Angeles
University of California San Diego
University of Cincinnati
University of Connecticut
University of Delaware
University of Denver
University of Florida

University of Maryland
University of Michigan
University of Notre Dame
University of North Carolina Chapel Hill
University of Oregon
University of Virginia
Utah State University
Villanova University
Virginia Tech
Washington University in St. Louis
Wesleyan University
Western Kentucky University
Whitman College
William and Mary
Williams College

The No Lost Generation (NLG) Student Initiative is an effort to promote education, protection, and support for adolescents and youth affected by the global refugee crisis. Student groups host events to raise awareness of the plight of refugees, such as film screenings or panel discussions, create in-kind support programs like curriculum uploads for NGO partners, and fundraise to assist international organizations. We are seeking students who are interested in forming a chapter at their college or university, and proactively participating in awareness-raising and creative long-term solutions to the global refugee and migration emergencies. Students will be required to organize one virtual speaking event with a humanitarian expert on any topic relating to the global refugee response. Students should also explore peer-to-peer outreach with refugee students overseas.

Interested students should have an interest in refugee and humanitarian issues, have a desire to play a role in the international humanitarian community, and be driven to make change in the face of one of the most intractable global challenges of our time.

Language Requirements

None